FACTS COMMON TO ALL CAUSES OF ACTION

12. On or about December 16, 2008, Antonio José Morales Padilla entered into an “Agreement of Option to Purchase and Sell” with Terrance Eugene Goins McNally and Jacques Corsia Touati (“Sellers”), which granted Morales Padilla an option to purchase real property in Condado, Puerto Rico known as the Atlantic Beach Hotel by June 15, 2009 for the price of $6,500,000. The option required the payment of a non-refundable fee of $100,000, which was paid to the sellers. The option could be extended for a term of 60 additional days upon the payment of an additional $50,000 to the Sellers.

13. On or about June 16, 2009 Morales Padilla and the Sellers executed the “First Amendment to Agreement of Option to Purchase and Sell and Assignment and Acknowledgment.” That agreement provided that the December 16, 2008 “Agreement of Option to Purchase and Sell” would be assigned by Morales Padilla to Friendly Hotel and that the term to exercise the option would be extended for a period of 60 days upon payment of the additional $50,000 fee, which was paid to the Sellers by Friendly Hotel.

14. Following the execution of the “Agreement of Option to Purchase and Sell” and the “First Amendment to Agreement of Option to Purchase and Sell and Assignment and Acknowledgment,” Friendly Hotel attempted to secure financing for the purchase of the hotel from the Banco de Desarrollo Economico de Puerto Rico, but was ultimately unable to obtain financing from that entity.

15. In February 2010, Friendly Hotel approached defendant Equity Mortgage in search of financing for the project.

16. Equity requested and received a fee of $500, as a loan application fee, from Friendly Hotel. At that time, Equity represented to Friendly Hotel that it was acting as a potential lender through a secondary market.

17. Following payment of the loan application fee, Equity began requesting financial documentation from Friendly Hotel that was in the nature of due diligence documentation, and Equity continued to represent to Friendly Hotel that it was acting as a lender on behalf of a secondary market.

18. On March 25, 2010, Equity Mortgage issued a Preliminary Commitment Letter to Friendly Hotel, stating that the financing for the project, totaling $6,965,880 would be obtained through defendant Dellovo Capital Corporation or its corporate investors. The Preliminary Commitment required Friendly Hotel to pay a $7,500 non-refundable fee for corporate due diligence upon acceptance of the Preliminary Commitment; a second, non-refundable fee of $7,500 for processing and underwriting which was due upon Friendly Hotel's acceptance of Dellovo's investor's term sheet; two points to be paid to the investor; and two points to be paid to Dellovo at closing.

19. The Preliminary Commitment Letter was accepted by Friendly Hotel, and Friendly Hotel paid the initial installment of the due diligence fee of $7,500.

20. On or about April 30, 2010, Harry Saul, vice-president of Dellovo, forwarded a Preliminary Term Sheet from defendant International Lending Group to Friendly Hotel.

The Preliminary Term Sheet stated that International Lending Group was interested in providing $9.8 million in financing for the purchase of the hotel. It provided that upon acceptance of the Term Sheet, Friendly Hotel would pay International Lending Group $14,750 for initial due diligence and underwriting costs plus first class travel and hotel expenses for site visits.

21. The acceptance of the Preliminary Term Sheet also required Friendly Hotel to pay Dellovo the second installment of the due diligence fee of $7,500 as required by the Preliminary Commitment.

22. Friendly Hotel accepted the Preliminary Term Sheet and paid International Lending Group $14,750. It also paid Dellovo the second installment of the due diligence fee of $7,500. Equity, Dellovo and International Lending Group represented to Friendly Hotel that International Lending Group was acting as a lender and not as a mortgage or loan broker.

23. In reliance upon the Preliminary Term Sheet, on or about May 10, 2010 Friendly Hotel and the Sellers executed a "Second Amendment to Agreement of Option to Purchase and Sell." That agreement reinstated and modified the "Agreement of Option to Purchase and Sell" and the "First Amendment to Agreement of Option to Purchase and Sell and Assignment and Acknowledgment." It provided that the sale price of the Atlantic Beach Hotel was increased to $6,550,000, that the previously paid option deposit of $175,000 would be applied to the purchase price of the hotel, and that the option period would expire on July 10, 2010, among other provisions.

24. On or about July 1, 2010, International Lending Group forwarded a "Conditional Commitment" issued by defendant ME&A that proposed to lend Friendly Hotel $9.8 million at 8% interest over a term of 48 months.

25. Up until this time, International Lending Group had never indicated that it was acting as a broker for the loan; to the contrary, Equity, Delo and International Lending Group represented to Friendly Hotel that International Lending Group would be providing the financing directly.

26. The "Conditional Commitment" was the first time that Friendly Hotel was advised that ME&A would be the entity that would actually be lending the money.

27. The "Conditional Commitment" identified International Lending Group as a broker for both Friendly Hotel and ME&A on the loan.

28. The "Conditional Commitment" required the payment by Friendly Hotel of an initial deposit of $27,861 upon execution of the Commitment, which was to be used for actual expenses incurred in connection with third-party reports and other lender expenses.

29. Friendly Hotel accepted the "Conditional Commitment."

30. Also, on or about July 1, 2010, International Lending Group issued a "Loan Commitment" in its own name, in which it offered financing for the purchase of the Atlantic Beach Hotel in the amount of $9.8 million at 8.0% for a term of 48 months, to be closed within 30 days of acceptance.

31. Friendly Hotel accepted the "Loan Commitment."

32. On July 2, 2010, Friendly Hotel paid the initial deposit of $27,871 required by both the "Conditional Commitment" and the "Loan Commitment" by wire transfer to International Lending Group.

33. In July 2010, RJ Jokschi of International Lending Group traveled to Puerto Rico, where he stayed for approximately two weeks, ostensibly to perform the required due diligence on the proposed loan. He visited the Atlantic Beach Hotel during that trip.

34. All of RJ Jokschi's expenses for this trip to Puerto Rico, including his airline tickets and hotel expenses, were paid by Friendly Hotel.

35. In August 2010, defendant Walker traveled to Puerto Rico, ostensibly to perform the required due diligence on the proposed loan. He visited the Atlantic Beach Hotel during that trip.

36. On September 9, 2010, ME&A Capital issued a Loan Commitment to Friendly Hotel. The Loan Commitment provided that ME&A would lend Friendly Hotel $9.8 million at a rate of 9.25% for a term of 36 months. It further provided that the loan would be closed no later than October 31, 2010. The Loan Commitment was signed by defendant Deon Walker as Managing Partner of ME&A Capital.

37. On September 17, 2010, Friendly Hotel accepted the Loan Commitment and it was executed by Eugenio Morales, President of Friendly Hotel.

38. ME&A Capital did not close the loan by the deadline of October 31, 2010.

39. Friendly Hotel communicated continuously with the defendants by phone, e-mails and in writing to inquire as to the status of the loan.

40. Defendant Walker personally and through his local counsel in Puerto Rico continually assured Friendly Hotel that the loan would be funded, while providing a myriad of excuses why the funding had not yet materialized.

41. On February 7, 2011, counsel for Friendly Hotel was told by ME&A Capital's local counsel that the funds for the loan were being wire transferred to the escrow agent that day and would be available as of 3:00 p.m. AST. However, the funds were not transferred.

42. In anticipation of the closing of the transaction, the parties to the sale had performed all of the following tasks: opened the escrow account; prepared the financing guaranty; opened a VISA account so that the hotel could begin operations immediately after closing; interviewed the hotel employees concerning employment with the new administration; issued a Pro-Forma Title policy; prepared the loan closing statement and obtained flood and hazard insurance policies.

43. On February 11, 2011, defendant Walker wrote to Friendly Hotel and indicated that he anticipated the funds to be available within 2 - 3 days.

44. On February 23, 2011, Friendly Hotel was advised by counsel for the Sellers that if the purchase was not closed before February 28, 2011, the Sellers would terminate the option agreement and retain the deposit of $175,000.

45. On April 28, 2011, counsel for Friendly Hotel wrote to the defendants, advising them that if the loan funds were not disbursed as promised by May 6, 2011, they would file suit in the federal and commonwealth courts.

46. On May 24, 2011, counsel for ME&A Capital sent an e-mail to counsel for Friendly Hotel, advising that the loan funds would be deposited with the escrow agent the following day. They were not deposited.

47. On May 24, 2011, Friendly Hotel filed a civil action with claims similar to this complaint in the United States District Court for the District of Puerto Rico under Civil No. 11-01481 (DRD). However, that complaint was not served on any of the parties.

48. Following the filing of the complaint, from June 3, 2011 to June 23, 2011, counsel for ME&A Capital continually advised counsel for Friendly, by both phone and e-mail, that the transfer of the funds was imminent and required only approval from the U.S. Treasury Department, as the supposed funds were supposedly being transferred from the Bank of China.

49. On June 24, 2011, counsel for ME&A Capital advised, via e-mail, that the U.S. Treasury Department approval had been obtained and that proof of funds would be available on Tuesday, June 28, 2011. She also requested that the federal complaint be voluntarily dismissed.

50. Based on the representation that the transfer of funds to ME&A Capital had been approved by the federal government (which until that time, was the only issue mentioned by ME&A Capital or its counsel as delaying the transaction), and in a show of good faith, Friendly Hotel voluntarily dismissed the federal complaint without prejudice on June 24, 2011.

51. On June 28, 2011, counsel for ME&A Capital advised, via e-mail, that proof of funds and the expected date of the wire transfer to the escrow agent would be available the next day, June 29, 2011.

52. On June 30, 2011, counsel for ME&A Capital advised, via e-mail, that Mr Walker was "trying to obtain flight for NY today. Bank requested signature on various documents before they provided access code to his account through Internet, I do expect POF tidY [sic] after his visit to bank."

53. That same day, Friendly Hotel, through counsel, advised counsel for ME&A Capital via e-mail that they were giving Mr. Walker and ME&A Capital until the close of business Tuesday, July 5th, to provide satisfactory evidence that the transaction was funded and would be completed shortly.

54. As of the filing of this complaint, the defendants have not provided the funds for the loan as required by the September 9, 2010 Loan Commitment.

55. Defendants ME&A Capital, LLC, Deon Walker (aka Rodney Walker aka Rodney Deon Walker), Dellovo Capital Corporation and International Lending Group, LLC are not authorized to do business in Puerto Rico by the Puerto Rico Department of State.

56. Defendants ME&A Capital, LLC, Deon Walker (aka Rodney Walker aka Rodney Deon Walker), Dellovo Capital Corporation and International Lending Group, LLC are not authorized by or registered with the Puerto Rico Office of the Commissioner of Financial Institutions to act as mortgage lenders, mortgage brokers, investment advisors, investment companies or venture capital funds.
